Honors to 13 citizens MISSISSAUGA LIBRARY SYSTEM for special efforts

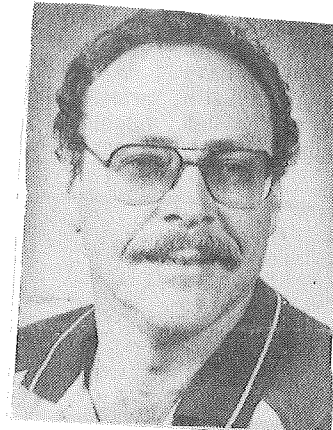

By MARY LOUISE BIRKS
Staff Writer

Thirteen Mississauga citizens will receive prestigious Bicentennial awards for exemplary volunteer work in the community.

The Mississaugans — four women and nine men — are among 1,984 Ontario residents who will receive special gold-plated award medals at ceremonies across the province this fall.

During her trip to Canada this fall, Queen Elizabeth will be presented with a solid gold replica of the volunteers' Bicentennial medal. The official announcement of the award-winners will be made in August.

Nominated by city council to receive the award are: Rev. Maury Blair, Barbara Hammond, Gary Clipperton, Richard Clewes, Claude Racey, Alberto Cataudella, Elias (Louis) Vellianou, A.J. Brands, Jeffery (Ed) Armstrong, Donna Howard, Carole Berry, Harry Hassal Sr., and Lucy Turnbull.

Gary Clipperton is the founder of a group of amateur musicians called the Streetsville Musicorp. For eight years since its formation, he has helped to keep the community singing. This nomination by Ward 9 councillor Ted Southorn is in honor of his community spirit and promotion of music, including the Musicorp's vocal section, Justus, and the annual production, Live on Stage, which also draws on local talent.

At Meadowvale Secondary School, Clipperton is head of the geography department and has also been active in the school's music program, producing, directing and conducting.

A former Calgary Stampeder football player, Clipperton has been a well-qualified full- and part-time coach for Meadowvale high school's football team.

He is also one of the founding members of the Streetsville Bread and Honey Festival and has served as entertainment chairman for the last few years.
