

Cloke founded theatre

Peel Bio. Apr. 23/97 JN
A long-time Port Credit dentist, who had a practice from the 1950s-80s, has died in England.

Dr. John Cloke died in Berkshire, England recently at age 96. He was predeceased by his wife Dorothy. Cloke is survived by his only daughter, Marion Cleffield who lives in Berkshire with her two sons.

As well as having a long-time practice on Lakeshore Rd. E., Cloke was well-known in the community for his minor theatre career.

He was a founding member of the Credit Valley Dramatic Society and acted and directed in a host of local amateur productions.
