

A man for all reasons

Ron Lenyk's work in the Mississauga community and within journalism circles has earned him an abundance of awards. Among the most prestigious are the Gordon S. Shipp Memorial Award as Mississauga's Citizen of the Year, presented to him (clockwise from left) by Harold Shipp and Mayor Hazel McCallion; the Mississauga Business Person of the Year Award, presented by John Wouters, Past President of the Mississauga Board of Trade, and Gerry McDole, President and CEO of AstraZeneca Canada; and the Dean Leshar Award, presented at the international Suburban Newspapers Association annual conference in Boston in 2001.
