MPP Marland on the menu at Community Living Roast

Roast à la Marland will be the main course when Community Living Mississauga hosts its 11th annual fundraising dinner next week.

Veteran Mississauga South MPP Margaret Marland will be the victim Wednesday night when friends and alleged admirers get together to poke some fun at the nine-year Queen's Park veteran who served before that both as city councillor and public school trustee.

Among those participating in the festivities will be Mike Harris, leader of the Ontario Conservatives, and Erindale College Principal Des Morton. Not to be outdone, Marland's sons Rob and Don and daughter Ruth, who recently made Marland a grandmother for the first time, will also get in their licks.

Proceeds for the annual event go to Community Living Mississauga, the non-profit association that promotes full acceptance and participation of people with intellectual handicaps. Marland has been a strong supporter of the group for many years.

Tickets for the event, to be held at the Delta Meadowvale Inn at 6 p.m. Wednesday, are $125. To order, call Marilyn Biernacki at 275-4705, ext. 233.
