Woman was expert on the supernatural

Eileen Sonin, an expert on the supernatural and wife of well-known radio personality Ray Sonin, died Monday night. She was 63.

The Mississauga woman was an actress and model in London for many years, playing Greek tragedy at Stratford-on-Avon and musical comedy in the West End theatres. Her husband, Ray Sonin, is a former journalist who now hosts the Calling All Britons and Down Memory Lane programs on CFRB, Canada's largest private radio station.

The Sonins were married in 1938 and came to Canada in 1957. Mrs. Sonin's interest in the supernatural led to the writing of three books on the subject, many lecture tours and numerous appearances on radio and television.

Mrs. Sonin is survived by her husband, daughter Maureen, and five grandchildren who live in England.
