MAN OF THE YEAR — Following in the footsteps of such luminaries as former Canadian Ambassador Ken Taylor of Iranian hostage-freeing fame, National Ballet founder Celia Franca, conductor laureate Andrew Davis, and marathon swimmer Jocelyn Muir is not shabby at all. But then there's nothing shabby about the accomplishments of Mississauga's Ray Sonin. Broadcaster, journalist, author and songwriter, Sonin was named the Man of the Year by the St. George's Society of Toronto. He's flanked by his wife, June, and St. George's official George Spratley at the awards night at the Royal York Hotel.
